SOCIETY'S LATEST FAD IS PULLING TAFFY

New Style Requires Each Guest to Bring a Chafing Dish.

Mrs. E. Kurtz Johnson to Present Her Daughter—Austrian Minister and Mrs. Von Hengelmüller's Dinner.

One of the sweetest novelties of the holiday season is the chafing dish taffy pull, and the way it is managed is this:

Invitations are to be issued to a certain number of couples who can be relied on to pull together, for the one occasion, at least; each pair to bring with them their own recipe and dish. Guests and utensils are to find small tables awaiting their service, when, instead of limiting their faculties to the usual routine of conventional festivities, they are immediately to boil molasses and work to achieve results.

When the syrup in each dish is ready for the athletic turn in its affairs, a genuine, old-fashioned taffy pull is started and kept up until the hostess touches a bell. That will indicate that the individual batches are to be submitted to a triumvirate of disinterested judges, who will proceed to award prizes according to color and taste. These favors may be made extravagant features of the chafing dish "pull," or consist simply of a bunch of flowers for the victorious girl and a boutonniere for the youth.

Miss Adelaide Augusta Walker, the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Walker, No. 1731 H street, and Mr. Francis Marion Barker, of Boston, were married today at noon at Foundry M. E. Church, Rev. Dr. Oliver A. Brown, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony, and the nuptial march was played by Mr. W. K. Cohen.

The bride was preceded up the aisle by the ushers, Mr. T. Garrison Moritt, of Baltimore; Mr. George H. White, of New York; Mr. Arthur Livingston Brooks, of Boston; and Mr. J. Alfred Richardson, of the same city, who also served as best man. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Mabel Adelaide Walker, of Washington, in a stylish walking gown of green basket cloth, with velvet hat and jacket—the bride's dress being of heliotrope cloth, trimmed with chinchilla, with hat and wrap to match. She carried a bouquet of white roses and maidenhair fern.

Mr. John C. Walker, a brother of the bride, tendered the young couple a reception last evening at his residence, No. 816 Nineteenth street, after which the groom entertained his gentlemen friends at a bachelor dinner at the Raleigh. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Barker left for a bridal trip to New York and other Northern cities, accompanied by Messrs. Richardson and Brooks. The future home of the couple will be in Boston, where the groom is a business man of prosperous standing.

In addition to the Hunt Ball there are a number of social functions scheduled for today, among them the tea by Mrs. E. Kurtz Johnson to present Miss Johnson; a dinner to be given by the Austrian minister and Mrs. Von Hengelmüller; the dance by the Ladies' German Club at Littleton Hall, Georgetown; and the reception to be held by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wilkinson, to introduce Miss Wilkinson.

Gen. and Mrs. Hazen have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Hannah Elizabeth, to Dr. Hugh Clarence Hursey, of this city.

The ceremony will be performed at the Metropolitan M. E. Church, Tuesday, January 12, at noon, by Rev. Dr. Johnson, rector of the church.

The marriage of Miss Mae Burdick Ross and Mr. W. H. McMurphy was solemnized yesterday noon at St. Andrew's Church, Rev. W. C. Perry, rector of the church, officiating. The maid of honor of the occasion was Miss Mildred Dettler and Mr. James Burdick served the groom as best man. The ushers were Mr. Charles Dunham and Mr. Clifford Maxwell.

The bride, who was groomed in royal purple and brown, trimmed with gold passementerie, entered the church with her father, Col. Ross, who gave her hand in marriage.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McMurphy left for Memphis, Tenn., by way of New York, the former home of the bride. They will be at home in Memphis after January 10.

Miss Violet Gray and Mr. George W. Strong were united in marriage in St. James' Church yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Clark, pastor of St. James'. The bride's gown was of wood-brown cloth, trimmed with self-shade satin and velvet. The ushers were Mr. Brock and Mr. Perle and the best man Mr. Edward Freeman. Strong. There were no attendant brides.

After their return from a short bridal jaunt Mr. and Mrs. Strong will be at home at No. 218 Fifth street northeast.

dictated in by each youthful guest. Miss Belle Grey and Master Harry Griffin captured the prizes after which a "fair bag" was passed around, a pretty souvenir was drawn by each girl and boy. The narrows were prettily adorned with Christmas greens, and holly and ivy were served. Among the young folks present were Misses Nettie Andrews, Ella Widman, Juliet Radcliffe, Annie Roby, Katy Simpson and Masters John Farrow, Harry Bliss, Frank Wheeler and Edward and Thomas Hines.

Dr. Dobson's Sabbath-school held its annual class reunion Monday evening, at No. 100 Eleventh street northeast. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and other social pastimes, and a generous repast was served. During the evening Miss Collins, on behalf of the class, presented Dr. Dobson with a framed photograph of his scholars, which was received with happy words of thanks.

Among those present were Misses Welch, Kennedy, Easton, Cooley, and Hopkins, and Messrs. Will and Henry Dobson, Bullis, French, Bradley, Ketter, Thatcher, Cooley, Austin and Willard.

Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth has for her Christmas guests her children, Mr. James V. Lawrence, Jr., and Mr. Arthur Lawrence.

TALK OF THE GEOLOGISTS.

Several Papers by Washingtonians Read at This Morning's Session.

The second day's session of the ninth annual meeting of the Geological Society of America was begun this morning at 10 o'clock in the lecture room of the National Museum, Prof. Joseph Le Conte, of Berkeley, Cal., presiding.

Prior to the morning session a meeting of the council was held at the Museum, at 9 o'clock, at which the routine business of the society was transacted. In open meeting the report of the council submitted yesterday was adopted, as was also the report of the committee of photographs, which submitted over 1,400 excellent prints in bound volumes of interesting geological views, taken in all parts of the country.

The auditing committee's report was also heard and approved. Notice of the recent death of Prof. N. J. Graux, of Ottawa, Canada, a prominent member of the society, and well-known scientist, was read, and appropriate action taken.

A large number of scientifically interesting and instructive papers were presented at today's session, several of them being read by Washingtonians. Mr. Arthur Keith, of Washington, gave a fifteen-minute essay on the structure of the Cranberry district in North Carolina. C. H. Hitchcock, of Hanover, N. H., read notes on the stratigraphy of certain homogeneous rocks, followed by a paper on the unconformities in the Virginia and Maryland region, by Prof. J. B. Woodworth, of Cambridge, Mass.

Other papers read were "Evidence of Northeastly Differential Rising of the Land Along the Bell River," by Prof. Robert Bell, of Ottawa, Canada; "Surface Erosion of Water as a Cause of Geological Phenomena," by George E. Ladd, and upon other scientific and geological topics by Erasmus Haworth, J. W. Turner of the geological survey, J. W. Spencer of Washington, Ralph S. Tarr of Cornell University and others.

At last night's session at Columbian University President Le Conte delivered his annual address before the society upon the "Different Kinds of Earth Crust Movements and Their Causes."

PRETTY WEDDING AT SARATOGA.

Mr. John Andrew Harris, of Philadelphia, Weds Miss French.

Saratoga, N. Y., Dec. 30.—The marriage of Miss Georgina French, of this place, to John Andrew Harris, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, was celebrated at high noon today, in Washington Street Baptist Episcopal Church. The church was crowded with a fashionable and select assemblage.

Right Rev. William Crosswell Doane, Bishop of Albany, led the way, followed by Rev. Dr. John Andrew Harris, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, and father of the groom, and Richard Seering, acting rector of Bethesda Episcopal Church. They were accompanied by the groom, who was attended by Mr. Charles Cowperthwaite, of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

The bridesmaids were Miss Julia Metcalf, of Cold Spring-on-the-Hudson; Miss Anna Richards, of New Haven, Conn.; Miss Elizabeth Harris, a sister of the groom, of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia; Miss Sara Griffin, of Haverhill, Mass.; Miss Caroline T. Lane, of Troy; Miss Eleanor Kaufmann, of Brooklyn; Miss Emma Strong, of Saratoga Springs; and Miss Mary J. Potter, a niece of Bishop Potter, of Geneva.

The bride was groomed in an imported creation of heavy ivory white satin, with demitrain. Her hair was arranged in waves of white chiffon and old point lace, with sprays of orange blossoms. The long shimmering veil of white tulle was held in place by sprays of orange blossoms. In her hand she carried a white satin prayer book, bound in silver, the gift of her step-mother, Mrs. French.

MRS. CASTLE HERSELF AGAIN.

She Starts From Philadelphia for a Trip With Her Husband.

Philadelphia, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Ella Castle, the wife of the San Francisco millionaire, who was admitted to the Polytechnic Hospital about three weeks ago, shortly after the return of the couple from their unpleasant experience in London, left that institution on Monday last, perfectly well. Mrs. Castle was suffering from an internal malady, and was successfully operated upon, in order to restore her to her normal condition, by Dr. L. W. Steinbach, of the Polytechnic Hospital.

The physicians at the hospital state that Mrs. Castle is now in excellent health, and does not exhibit the least trace of her former malady.

It is not known yet what are the future plans of the Castles, but it is thought the husband and wife will take a short trip somewhere before returning to their home in San Francisco.

During her stay at the hospital Mrs. Castle occupied a private room and was attended by a trained nurse. By order of the attending physician, no visitors except her husband were allowed to call upon her.

SANTA CLAUS MADE MERRY

Inspector Hollinberger in the Role of Assistant St. Nick.

Charming Christmas Entertainments of the Christadelphian Church and North Capitol M. E. Sunday-Schools.

Old Santa Claus, with his stumpy nose, long, white hair and beard, and snow-flecked garments, paid his annual visit last evening to the happy Sunday-school children of the Christadelphian Church, Eighth street, between F and G streets northeast. The jolly old fellow was attended by his retinue of elves, in bright scarlet gowns and peacock-witch caps, and a band of guardian fairy sprites.

The church building was packed to its very doors with an audience which had been invited to attend Santa Claus' Christmas reception. A grateful flood of Tuletide lights was reflected from the branches of a great cedar tree, laden with presents and brightly-colored decorations, causing a picturesque effect, and glistening downward in rainbow hues on the smiling and expectant faces of the scholars in holiday attire.

The program was unique, full of appropriate surprises, and original. Its rendition was excellent and reflected great credit upon Mr. Louis B. Ray and Mrs. Nellie Ray, who trained the juvenile participants and marshaled them during the entertainment.

Miss Steel, who began the program by reciting the beautiful story of the birth of Christ. The recitation was repeated in song by the members of the Bible class.

Then Inspector Louis H. Hollinberger, in an impressive and eloquent manner, told of the holidays which were bestowed upon human kind by the birth of the Christ-child, and those yet to follow when the earth will be peopled by an intelligent, deathless race, according to the Christadelphian belief.

Following this address were juvenile games, recitations, fairy stories, and songs. "The Jolly Boys' Soldier Company," address of welcome by Master Roy Whitford, captain of the "Jolly Boys," and the "Fairy Song," by a band of the sprites.

Next in order was the arrival of Santa Claus, impersonated by Mr. Charles T. Cooley, without hat, without coat, and without a single scholar handsome present and box of bonbons. The program ended with the happy children singing the "Good Night" song.

Prior to the morning session a meeting of the council was held at the Museum, at 9 o'clock, at which the routine business of the society was transacted. STOLE A BROTHER'S WIFE

Eloper Found by Husband After a Two Years' Search.

Wife Brought the Brother-in-Law From Germany and Fell in Love With Him.

Camden, Dec. 30.—When Frank Yeager and the woman, who is called his wife for nearly two years stood up before Mayor Westcott, in the police court yesterday afternoon, their accused was George Yeager, brother of one and husband of the other.

They were charged with living together as man and wife, and the accused man told a sorry tale of how his home in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., had been broken up, how he had learned of and wide for the culprits, and how he had at last found them living in Camden.

George Yeager said he was a fairly prosperous tradesman in Wilkes-Barre, and had a happy home with his wife and baby girl. On December 13, 1894, his wife returned to Germany for a visit to the scenes of her childhood and their courtship. She took the baby with her, and was gone two months.

When she came back she brought her husband's brother Frank with her. There was room enough in the home for him, and he was made welcome, his brother finding work for him. Things moved along with apparent smoothness, except that Mrs. Yeager seemed to have more regard for Frank than for her own husband.

George Yeager had no suspicions, however, and continued to live in the same even, uneventful way. On May 25, 1896, without any explanation, Mrs. Yeager and her brother-in-law disappeared, out of sight, and they took the baby with them.

He sought them far and wide for two years, and at last found them here. The woman admits all the charges.

MORE THEFTS REPORTED.

Record of the Crooked Gentry for Twenty-Four Hours.

Burglars, supposed to be tramps, broke into the blacksmith shop of the Terra Cotta Brick Works last night and stole a drawing knife, crosscut saw, monkey wrench and ratchet bar. The case was reported to police headquarters this morning by John Miller, second and 9 streets southeast, and entered as housebreaking in the night.

Charles H. Hammer reported today that burglars broke the glass of his shop window, at No. 237 Fourth-and-a-half street southeast, yesterday morning before day-light, and got away with a pair of shoes, two pairs of slippers and two old shoes.

A suit of clothes and an overcoat were stolen from the room of Joseph Grover, No. 315 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, yesterday.

Rev. Joseph J. Muir, pastor of the E-Street Baptist Church, reported today that his wife lost, or had stolen on a street car, on the street, a gold coin breastpin, with diamond setting.

A pair of pearl-necked opera glasses was stolen from in front of the store of Eugene Gross, No. 119 Fourth-and-a-half street southwest.

Footballers entered the outhouse of Mrs. M. E. Fraider, No. 1904 First street southwest, Monday night, and after heaving thirteen chickens, made off with the carcasses.

Mrs. William G. Rice, residing at No. 121 Massachusetts avenue northeast, reported this morning that on December 20 she lost or had stolen from her pocket, probably in St. John's Church, Sixteenth and H streets northwest, her leather pocket-book, containing $5, or seven $2.50 gold pieces, $2 or $3 in bills and some papers.

Christiana Higgins' Will.

The will of Christiana Higgins was filed today for probate. It is dated February 28, 1894, and appoints Mary M. Steele, daughter of the deceased, executor. To Laura A. Higgins is given a house and lot at Peru, Ind., and certain property adjoining the same bequeathed to Laura A. Battand Mary M. Steele. Minor bequests are made to Edward and Nellie Pfeiffer, two grand-children, and a house and lot at 209 Pennsylvania street northwest, in this city, is also left to Mrs. Steele.

Married a Count.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 30.—Miss Grace Virginia Corneau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Corneau, was united in marriage last evening to Le Comte Joleaud de St. Maurice of Paris. The count and countess left for Chicago on the midnight train. From there they will go to Montreal, Canada. Thence they will go to New York, from which city they will sail for Paris.
